Internet Explorer User’s Guide

The Internet Explorer Toolbar

The Internet Explorer toolbar has a number of helpful features, including:

- Favorites – Bookmarks your favorite pages - more on this below
- Mail – Click the down arrow to:
  - Read Email – opens Thunderbird into the Inbox
  - New Message – opens Thunderbird and starts a new email message
  - Send Link – Opens an email message and inserts a link to the current website into the email message
  - Send Page – Opens an email message and inserts the current website as the body of the email message
- Edit – Click the down arrow to edit the current webpage in FrontPage, Word, Publisher and other Microsoft programs. This is a quick and easy way to edit a webpage that you are permitted to edit (such as your personal homepage or, in some cases, your departmental web pages).
- Research – Click this button to look up a word or phrase for dictionary definitions, synonyms, and translations into many languages.

Internet Explorer uses a feature called Favorites to put Web sites you visit often within easy reach. That way, you don’t have to remember or type anything. Just click your mouse twice—and there you are.

Using Favorites

Internet Explorer uses a feature called Favorites to make your favorite websites easily accessible. In Netscape, these were called Bookmarks.

Your Netscape Bookmarks have been converted to Favorites in Internet Explorer and will be in a folder in your Favorites list called Imported Bookmarks. If they are not, contact the Helpdesk at 610-519-7777.

To Add a Website to Your Favorites List

Internet Explorer makes it easy for you to return to a particular website when you add it to your list of Favorites. To add a website to your Favorites:

1. Go to the website that you want to add to your Favorites.
2. From the menubar above, click the Favorites button, click Add to Favorites.
3. In the Add Favorite box, you will see the Name that will be given the Favorite. If you want to change the name, delete the current name and type a new name. Then click OK. The site will be added to your Favorites list.

Note: You can also click the Favorites icon on the Internet Explorer toolbar, which will open the Favorites task pane up on the left. To close the task pane, click the X on the Tip: You can add the current page to your main list of favorites (but not to a folder) right from the keyboard by pressing CTRL+D.

Go to a Website on Your Favorites List

Now that you have added your favorite sites to the Favorites list, you can easily get to them! To get to a place on your Favorites list:

1. Click Favorites either on the menubar above or on the toolbar.
2. Select the website you want to visit and click it once.

Alphabetize Your Favorites

If your list of Favorites gets unruly, you can put it in alphabetical order.

1. Open the Favorites task pane by clicking the icon on the toolbar.
2. Right-click anywhere in the Favorites menu.
3. On the menu that opens, click Sort by Name. Internet Explorer will list the folders first (if you have them), and then individual web pages after that, all in alphabetical order.

Deleting a Website from the Favorites List

You may find that the link to a favorite webpage no longer works or you may not need the link anymore. To Delete a link from your Favorites list:

1. Go to your Favorites either by clicking on Favorites from the menubar or by clicking the icon on the toolbar.
2. Locate the Favorite you want to remove, right-click it and select Delete.

Note: Be careful when deleting entire Favorites folders, as it will delete all Favorites inside of that folder.

Organizing Your Favorites into Folders

As your list of Favorites grows, you can organize it by categorizing them, creating a folder for each category, and storing links to websites—or even other folders—in them. For example, you could create a folder named Movies and use it to store links to theaters, movie times, reviews, and so on. To create a Favorites folder:
1. Select Favorites from the menubar above and select Organize Favorites. You can also click the Favorites icon on the toolbar and click Organize from the task pane that appears.

2. Click Create Folder. See step 2 in the image at right.

3. Type a name for the folder, and then hit Enter on your keyboard. See step 3 in the image at right.

4. To move existing Favorites into your new folder, locate them on the list and drag them into your new folder. If the number of Favorites you have makes dragging impractical, select one and use the Move to Folder button instead.

5. You can also move items out of a Favorites folder by selecting the link and dragging it out of the folder.

6. Notice that the Organize Favorites box to the right also allows you to Rename and Delete Favorites folders, as well. This can also be done by right-clicking a Favorites folder from the Favorites menu or task pane and selecting either Delete or Rename.

7. When you've finished with the Organize Favorites box, click Close.

8. Now that you have created a folder, the next time you want to add a Favorite to that folder, click Add Favorite as you normally would, but click Create in <<, select the folder, and click OK (see image on right).

   Tip: You can drag existing Favorites to your new folder using from the Favorites menu or within the Favorites task pane. To do this, simply grab the link and move it into your new folder.

Using the Internet Explorer Links Bar

The Links bar can be used to quickly get to your favorite websites. Links are like Favorites, but are more easily accessible.

The Links bar is usually located just under the Internet Explorer Address bar, like you see here on the right.

On your Villanova PC, the Links bar is located on the far right-hand side of the Address bar, like the one here on the right (next to the green arrow).

To move the Links bar down so that it displays below the Address bar like the first picture above:

1. Right-click on the gray toolbar area at the top of the window.
2. Click on Lock the Toolbars to uncheck the option.
3. Now you can move your Links bar down by clicking and holding the Links button and dragging it down until it appears below the Address Bar. Your Links bar will now appear below the Address bar and will extend to show a number of websites, like this.

4. To Delete a website from the Links bar, right-click on the website (e.g., Free Hotmail) and select Delete from the menu. Do this with all Links that you do not want to see on the bar.

5. To Add a website to the Links bar:
   a. Browse to one of your favorite websites.
   b. When the website has loaded, click and hold the blue Internet Explorer symbol located at the left of the website address and drag it down into the Links bar. Wait a moment and then you will see the website listed on your Links bar.

   Note: Sometimes the symbol will not be an symbol, but rather will be another symbol, like those listed here on the right for the VU Homepage, Google and ABC.

6. To Rename a link on your Links bar, right-click on a link in the Links bar and select Rename from the menu. Type a shorter name and then click OK. You may want to do this for links that have very long names so that you can fit more links on the Links bar.
